Lean Thinker Webinars

We continue to host webinars with prominent lean consultants and practitioners.

Last month Bob Emiliani helped us understand A Leader's Role in Lean Success. The recorded version of that webinar is still available publicly here.

Later in June Mark Hamel will present a webinar on Kaizen: From System to Principle-Driven. You can learn more about this webinar here.

We have several more webinars in development, so watch for the announcements.

As always, recorded versions of these webinars are available to subscribers to the Gemba Academy Complete Lean Package.

Subscribers will notice that we've combined the Lean Thinker and Webinar groups into a common Lean Thinker Webinars section.

Subtitles - Spanish and More

At the request of several subscribers, we've been working hard to add Spanish subtitles to Gemba Academy content. Most courses now have Spanish subtitles and we should complete the rest within a few weeks.

You can see an example of the subtitles here. Click on the CC icon on the top right, and you'll be able to select between English and Spanish subtitles. Eventually we'll have even more languages!

We are also starting projects to add Chinese and Arabic subtitles. If there's a language you think we should think about adding, please let us know.

All subtitled versions are available at no additional cost to subscribers to the Gemba Academy Complete Lean Package.

Six Sigma Coming Soon!

Last month we announced that we're now in the production phase of creating an entirely new series of modules on Six Sigma!

Gemba Academy has developed what we think is the most robust six sigma content available, and we are in the process of converting it into highly effective and actionable learning modules in the Gemba Academy style. We also plan on offering a certification program.

Eleven video modules are now complete, and we'll be rolling out the rest as they are developed. Subscribers to the Gemba Academy Complete Lean Package will have access to them during this development period.

After the course is complete we will be creating separate "schools" of lean and six sigma in order to better categorize and organize Gemba Academy content. Existing subscribers to the Complete Lean Package will be offered a deeply discounted subscription to the School of Six Sigma, so now is the time to also subscribe to the Complete Lean Package!
