New! Green Belt and Black Belt Certification Programs!

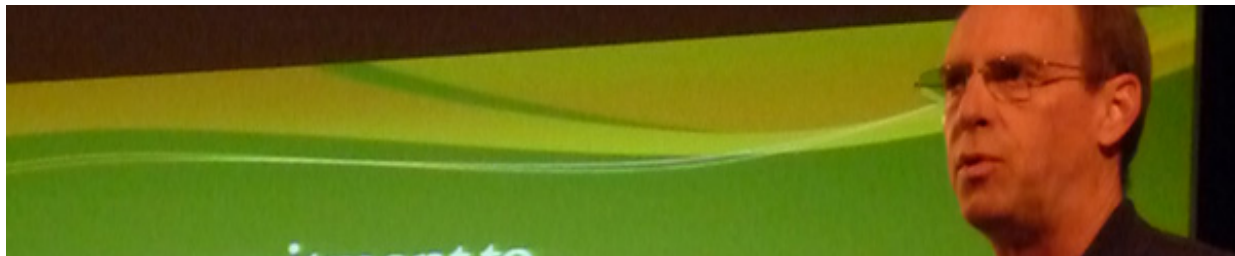

Are you an individual seeking Green Belt or Black Belt certification? Or, are you involved in building an internal Green Belt or Black Belt certification program within your organization? Gemba Academy is proud to announce Green Belt and Black Belt certification programs for individuals and organizations.

Gemba Academy's Green Belt and Black Belt certification programs enable individuals and corporate groups to achieve their unique certification goals at their pace. Individuals can designate the time frame in which they'd like to achieve their certification and work to achieve their goal right out of the gate. Companies looking to begin, or augment, their internal Green and Black Belt training programs can rely upon Gemba Academy's content to serve as a common baseline for consistent learning and a common "language" across the organization. Gemba Academy also offers several content delivery solutions for companies who want to implement internal training in an easily accessible way.

Learning Lean & Six Sigma can be intimidating, especially when statistical concepts are being taught. Gemba Academy has carefully designed the School of Six Sigma such that anyone can learn the tools and concepts. You don't need to be a statistics expert. What are Lean Leaders Saying about Gemba Academy?

Gemba Academy is very pleased to share a review from lean authority, Bill Waddell. We were pleasantly surprised to read his unsolicited review of Gemba Academy that you may view here at the Manufacturing Leadership Center blog.

I can unequivocally state that any company pursuing lean that has not bought their School of Lean package is missing the boat in a major way. These guys cover the fundamentals of lean completely, clearly and accurately in a way that is not only more effective but light years more economical than anything else out there. - Bill Waddell

"This is the greatest learning aide I have come across in my 25 years of practicing statistical improvement! I have been through three different Six Sigma curriculums and personally trained/mentored several green & black belt practitioners. This is the easiest to understand and deploy format I have found. I WILL recommend this to anyone who will listen. Thank you very, very much for sharing your knowledge in this program."
